

Editorial

During the unending COVID isolation period, economies of all countries are experiencing very vital problems. Even the super economies of the world came to the end of the road. Will the USA keep subsidizing the citizens and businesses? Will Germany be able to find funds for the forthcoming lockdown? What will the developing countries do against rising inflation, energy, environment, inequality, labor problems, strikes, and similar problems?

This third issue searches and discusses the following topics: comparing learners' performance in distance learning, entrepreneurial development and employment creation, behavioral finance and investors' stock investments, balanced score card and benchmarking, psychological pricing strategy, infrastructural and performance of SMEs, leadership influence on employee performance, investigating the impact of external business environment, and environmental influence on organizational behaviour.

Hope to see you in the next issue!
